Tutoring Experience

I have spent 11 years teaching and tutoring Chemistry across multiple curriculums, including GCSE, IGCSE, and IB. My work has involved supporting students through challenging coursework, helping them prepare for exams, and guiding home-schooled learners in completing entire courses. My expertise also includes advanced chemistry topics for A-Level students.

In addition to teaching in international and private schools, I've contributed to developing science programs and equipping labs with the tools necessary for modern education. I have worked closely with students from diverse academic and cultural backgrounds, ensuring they achieve their goals and develop a strong understanding of Chemistry.
